to agree upon the date and any change in the rules which may be needed. Harvard has submitted her data for these undecided points, and if satisfactory to the Princeton management, the deal will be closed or can be closed this afternoon.

Harvard has at present November 2th and 16th open, and prefers the former for the game. Princeton has a date scheduled with Cornell for November 2th. scheduled with Cornell for November 2th. If Cornell can be induced to play on November 16th, or before November 2th, the situation is, easily solved. Princeton would prefer a date earlier than the 2th, for the memories of the Cornell team or 24 are still too green to allow any possible repetition of the same so hear the Yale game. A date after November 23t, on which day Princeton plays Yale and Harvard plays Pennsylvania, is not in favor at either of the colleges, and will only be accepted as the very last resort. Harvard has done her part and has done well. It now remains for old Nassau to show her true spirit and the game is a certainty.

To Test the Gray Racing Bill.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—There was a conference at the district attorney's office his morning in relation to the proposed fall racing at Morris Perk. The conference was held because of an opinion given by Corporation Counsel Scott to the Police Commissioners yesterday, in which he suggested that a test case should be made to determine the legality of the Gray racing bill. In order to make a test case, Colonel Lawrence submitted to arrest. He agreed to be arrested on charges made under the statutes. Colonel Lawrence was arraigned before Magistrate Cornell at the Jefferson Morket Court and paroled in the custody of its counsel until Manday morning.

This step was taken on the suggestion of the State Hacing Commission and the West Chester Racing Association.
